Splendid Displays Are Shown By The Pupils of San Jacinto

THE parents and friends of the pupils of the San Jacinto school were entertained by a most pleasing exhibition Thursday afternoon at the school. The exhibition consisted of work done during the past year. Perhaps the most unique and interesting exhibit was the raffia basket work done by the children in the third and fourth grades under the direction of Miss Alberta Heep and Miss Mamie Roberts. Many of the designs were original with the children. The shape and harmonious blending of the colors were extremely artistic.

The work of the older children was shown in the hall upstairs. Especially pleasing were the covers of the note books, which were designed and drawn by the pupils. Many of these were strikingly original and showed a marked degree of workmanship and knowledge of the important principles of drawing. The work of the tiny children under the direction of Mrs. M. Carmichael was most pleasing. Woven paper baskets of pink and green and the baskets of fruit which were cut out and pasted on card board showed what very young children could do when properly supervised. The department of primary manual arts is under the supervision of Miss Alberta Heep.

The book binding done by the third grade pupils was very near perfection. It was almost impossible to conceive of young children doing work that people usually associate with the work of skilled men; there were also woven baskets, drawings and free hand cutting of apron flaps.

Miss Vera Pool's room was artistically decorated with free hand drawings done on the blackboards around the room. The dancing kittens were very well done and the butterflies and blue birds were colored extremely well.

The sewing under Miss Hazel Howell showed the work of girls in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades. There were dresses, underwear, clothing and embroidery work, all beautifully done.

A large number of parents and friends called during the afternoon, and were graciously received by the Mrs. O. A. Critchett, the principal, assisted by the teachers of the school.

Dinners, Luncheons, Teas.

Mrs. C. N. Bassett will entertain about 50 guests with a luncheon at Hotel Paso del Norte Saturday, in honor of her sister, Miss Margaret Powers, who is visiting her from Decatur, Ill.

Mrs. G. W. Glat entertained with a prettily appointed Mexican luncheon Thursday at her home on McKinley avenue. The house was effectively decorated with American beauty roses. Mrs. Glat's guests were Messrs. K. E. Martin, T. N. McFeters, Neal Sherman, John Mullen and W. T. Tolbert.

Many dinner parties were entertained at the regular fortnightly dinner-dance at the El Paso country club Thursday evening. Major and Mrs. George Vidmer entertained a party. At another table were Miss Valerie Lorie, Miss Anne Brown and Judge Paul Thomas and Gunther Leasing. Mr. and Mrs. James L. Marx and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mapel were at another table. Capt. and Mrs. Maxwell Murry entertained a party of friends. Lieut. Joseph Theat and Miss Nina Cameron were at a table. Col. G. H. McMichael had a dinner party. After dinner the dance was largely attended. Saturday evening the regular Wednesday dance will take place at the club.

Patriotic Woman Of El Paso Offers Three Farms For War Crops

Mrs. Sam Allphin, 2827 Trowbridge street, has shown herself to be a real red, white and blue patriot. She has offered three farms, without any "strings" attached, to practical farmers who will plant war crops on them. The farmers who accept her offer will not have to pay any rentals or other expense. Mrs. Allphin has agreed to even pay the taxes. One of her farms is a 20 acre tract near Pedro, Texas, and contains farm houses and other buildings. It is ready for cultivation. She has another 40 acre farm in Oklahoma, which she also offers, together with several hundred acres of uncultivated land in the Mesilla valley.

Mrs. O. A. Critchett Named Equal Franchise Delegate

THAT the Equal Franchise League of El Paso should be represented at the state convention to be held at Waco, Tex., May 15 to 17 was the decision reached by the members of the league at its meeting Thursday afternoon in the chamber of commerce building. Mrs. O. A. Critchett, president, was selected as the one who most thoroughly understood the local situation and conditions to represent the league at the convention.

Mrs. Critchett recommended that a vote of thanks should be extended to O. A. Martin, who published an article on behalf in The Herald and to Mrs. L. L. Mundy for the successful baby campaign which she conducted.

Because of the absence of Mrs. Volney Leonard the secretary, Mrs. S. J. Pennell, acted as secretary pro tem. Mrs. Leonard reported having written letters of thanks to J. C. Wilmart, secretary of the Red Cross Finance Committee, and to Rev. I. M. Bryce.

Reports were received from the treasurer, Mrs. Horace Lay and Mrs. L. L. Mundy, chairman of the baby day committee. Mrs. David Holguin, librarian, reported the library of the league ready for use, having received new books from Misses M. Rose Kiebler, E. C. Berry, Horace H. Lay and Louis R. Lay. Mrs. Holguin suggested that permission be secured from the El Paso State and Door company to use the bookcase in the booth in the chamber of commerce building for the use of the books belonging to the league.

Short articles were read by Mrs. C. A. Sorrell on suffrage in Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Holguin on suffrage in Germany and Mrs. Berry, on suffrage in Japan.

Announce Mothers' Day Observances. The following announcements were made: John M. Jackson will deliver a sermon Sunday at the First Methodist church, entitled "Mother As a Citizen." People of the First Presbyterian church will wear white carnations Sunday in memory of those who have lost their mothers through death. Miss Isabel Holbrook, who has been in the east, will arrive in El Paso May 19 enroute to California.

Mrs. Pennell presented a motion that the $20 necessary to complete the fund for sending a delegate to Waco should be borrowed. The motion was passed and Mrs. V. E. Haggis offered to loan the money to the league.

Mrs. Leonard suggested that the members occasionally send some small gift to the county hospital many of which are invalids and have no hope of ever being able to leave the hospital.

Two new members, Mrs. May Ross Kiebler and Mrs. W. E. Wicks, were taken into the association.

On account of the departure of the presiding officer, Mrs. Critchett, it was decided to dispense with the meeting next week.

The Bible class of Trinity Methodist church was entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Kerr on Lawton avenue. The house was decorated with flags, leaves and ferns. After a short business session, a social hour followed. A luncheon was served. Among the members present were Mesdames M. L. Dalton, A. E. Berryhill, Anna Anderson, Hazel Semler, W. J. Ritz, W. H. Farrar, E. F. Glick, E. C. Taylor, C. A. Masters, R. E. Bryan, L. C. Trotter, N. J. Albright, G. R. Cole, E. P. Penny, Charles Basch, E. E. Rogers, Robert Lander, G. L. Jones and A. G. Smith. The visitors were Mesdames H. E. Myers, W. A. Brown and J. D. McDonald. The hostess was assisted by Miss Birdie Kerr and Miss Sadie Kerr.

Mrs. E. W. Haight entertained the Thursday embroidery club at her home, 1211 North Campbell street, Thursday afternoon. The room was decorated with spring flowers and ferns. A luncheon was served. Among the members present were Mesdames M. L. Dalton, A. E. Berryhill, Anna Anderson, Hazel Semler, W. J. Ritz, W. H. Farrar, E. F. Glick, E. C. Taylor, C. A. Masters, R. E. Bryan, L. C. Trotter, N. J. Albright, G. R. Cole, E. P. Penny, Charles Basch, E. E. Rogers, Robert Lander, G. L. Jones and A. G. Smith. The visitors were Mesdames H. E. Myers, W. A. Brown and J. D. McDonald. The hostess was assisted by Miss Birdie Kerr and Miss Sadie Kerr.

A banquet will mark the close of the Bible study classes of the Young Women's Christian association. The event will be given at Washington park on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 7 o'clock. Mrs. William Hovarth has charge of the arrangements. Every one will bring lunch. A very pleasing program has also been planned.

The women of the northeast and northwest neighborhoods of the First Baptist church will entertain the south neighborhood and the new members this afternoon with a picnic at Washington park. A basket lunch will be served.

Circle four of the First Methodist church held a business meeting in the parlors of the church Thursday afternoon. An ice cream was served.

A reception will be given the visiting women attending the bankers' convention, next Tuesday afternoon at the Woman's club.

The Junior Auxiliary of the Westminster church will meet Saturday afternoon with Mrs. John Graham, at 1120 Brown street.

Mrs. Marlan Calnan will entertain the N. E. club at her home, 59 E. East Boulevard, Saturday afternoon.

Out Of Town Visitors. Jesse Womack and E. Womack are in the city to attend the bankers' convention. They came overland from Taylor, Texas, in their Buick.

Mrs. Henrietta N. Baker and little son, Michael, of Baton Rouge, La., are visiting Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. R. M. Martin, at the Earle apartment, on Union avenue.

Miss Louisa Hones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Barnes, of this city, will leave Saturday on her vacation, visiting relatives and friends in Galveston, Houston and Beaumont, after which she will return to her home in Frisco.

Men's Club of Presbyterian Church Gives Japanese Tea

ANNUALLY the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church entertain the women of the church who assist them throughout the year with their dinners and other entertainments.

This year the men of the church gave a Japanese garden party at Washington park with the wives of the members and others of the church women as their guests. One section of the park was converted into a Japanese garden by the use of wild cane, bamboo, wisteria and Japanese lanterns. The garden was enclosed entirely by a miniature stream of water running in the irrigation ditches.

The box hedge on one side of the enclosure and wild grass and cane were used for the other, with the summer house decorated with festoons of wisteria. A bamboo entrance flanked by Japanese lanterns led to a Japanese garden. This was the only entrance to the tea garden, the men being made to retire to the summer house while the women were served with tea from tea houses formed from large Japanese parasols.

After tea was served, the women guests were seated at a long table in the center of the garden. This table was also decorated with wisteria, pink sweet peas and greens and illuminated with Japanese lanterns. A parade of the members of the club, led by the waiters, wearing limousines and flowered caps followed, after which the men were seated around the edge of the garden. The picnic lunch was then served, consisting of sandwiches, cold meats, coffee and lemonade. Favors of miniature Japanese umbrellas and fans were given with the cream. Everything was prepared and served by the men of the church.

Following the lunch, an impromptu program was given by the men. A quartet composed of Rupert Redie, James A. Dick, Rev. C. L. Overstreet and E. P. Haggis sang, the women sang old fashioned songs led by Mr. Dick, and other stunts were given. At the start of the program, an impromptu rickshaw appeared, drawn by Charles Overstreet, Jr., and Earl Brown and carrying Norman Walker, the club president, who read a greeting from the mikado.

At each plate the women found a Lincoln penny with verses attached as a "take off" on the May day party of the Aid society, at which new silver dollars were distributed to the women present with an invitation in verse to return it with one more earned by themselves. The verses on the penny were:

"I'm a penny
You're a peach
So you owe
Everything in reach
Take me with you,
We don't care
Bring back 500
To next year's affair.
If you don't—
You'll be sorry.
As for us—
We shall not worry."

The waiters were in charge of W. V. Long and included John L. Dyer, James A. Dick, J. L. Campbell and H. Anderson.

Tea was poured by Mrs. John L. Dyer and Mrs. Norman Walker, assisted by Misses Ruth Dewey, Thelma Spennell and Gusie Gore. Adelaide Overstreet was in charge of the Japanese income unit.

The committee in charge of the garden party consisted of Rev. C. L. Overstreet, Norman Walker, W. V. Long and G. A. Graham. They were assisted by E. W. Brown, Earl Brown, Leonard Worchester and son, Leonard, Jr.; Dale Carlton, J. G. Barada and Charles F. Sheppard.

The El Paso Laundry has offered to launder the garments made by the Red Cross free of charge. The society has sent this week 115 bed coats and 55 pajama suits to be laundered. The call for old linen to be made up is still open and anyone who cannot send the things to the Women's club may call Mrs. H. W. Broadbent after 6 o'clock. Next Tuesday will be spent in sewing. Wednesday the club will be turned over for a reception to be given for the visiting women attending the bankers' convention.

How "1/3 Less" convinced mother

(Report No. 8) By the man who proved it!

Mother went downstairs with me and took the Cottolene lid off in the kitchen.

She didn't act enthusiastic when she asked, "Now what are we going to make?"

I said, "Biscuits. Follow these directions exactly."

We couldn't find a board (mother isn't used to our kitchen).

Yes! Cottolene is also superior for frying and for all cake-making so we rolled the dough on the clean oil cloth table top and cut the biscuits out with a baking powder cover.

We quarreled a little, too, over the recipe. Mother claimed one-third less Cottolene wouldn't be enough shortening. But I insisted it would.

When the biscuits were in the oven Mother looked as if it were up to me now. The Cottolene was mine; so was the one-third-less recipe.

But when the oven door was opened the strain came off my shoulders. Mother said cautiously, "Why, these are very good biscuits—they are perfect biscuits."

They were.

They were as absolutely crisp and delicious as any I ever tasted made with Mother's full quantity of butter.

My point was proved.
